Applicant's election with traverse of all claims 1-30 in Paper No. 6 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the restriction was in error. This is found persuasive.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-5, drawn to a method for detecting a phase in a cardiac cycle, classified in class 250, subclass 336.1.
- II. Claims 6-14, drawn to a method of MRI microscopy, classified in class 600, subclass 407.
- III. Claims 15-17, drawn to a MRI microscopy method , classified in class 600, subclass 413.
- IV. Claims 18-20, drawn to a gating system, classified in class 250, subclass 340.
- V. Claims 21-25, drawn to an MRI system, classified in class 600, subclass 407.
- VI. Claims 26-30, drawn to an MRI system, classified in class 600, subclass 413.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions both Groups (V and VI) and Group IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combinations do not claim a signal processor. The subcombination has separate utility such as a gating system.

Inventions both Groups (II and III) and Group I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combinations do not claim a derivation of a cardiac signal I response to optically detected movements indicative of a cardiac phase. The subcombination has separate utility such as a method of detecting a cardiac phase.

Inventions Groups IV-VI and Groups I-III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatuses can practice another and materially different process such as one with or without optical cardiac phase detection. The processes can be practiced with a materially different apparatus such as one with or without a signal processor.

Art Unit: 3742

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Bryan Davidson on 3-10-2004 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
